CONCLUDING SYMPOSIUM OF THE INTANGIBLE CULTURAL HERITAGE AND MUSEUMS PROJECT

When? Wednesday February 26, 2020

Where? Brussels, Belgium

Over the past three years, the Intangible Cultural Heritage and Museums Project (IMP) has gathered a rich network of museum professionals, heritage communities, academics, policy makers and networking actors. We travelled to The Netherlands, Italy, Switzerland, France and Belgium in order to discover the myriad of ways in which practices of intangible cultural heritage are being incorporated in museum work.

On February 26, 2020 IMP will host its Concluding Symposium in Brussels (BE),

- bringing together key players in the museum sector and intangible heritage networks,
- summarizing and valorizing the theoretical and practical insights that have been pooled throughout the past three years of working on this complex topic in a comparative European context,
 - and stating recommendations for future development and related policies.
